WATER QUESTION MAY BE PUT UP TO APPELLATE COURT

Suit Is Expected To Be Brought the First of Next Week Taking Water Question Into the Higher Courts for Solution.

It became known definitely this morning that the Maysville water question is at last to be put up to the highest court in the state and action in that direction is expected to be taken the first of next week by attorney representing the water company.

At present there are five warrants in County Court charging the water company with furnishing impure water issued at the behest of the Kentucky State Board of Health. In order to get the matter to the Court of Appeals and once and for all solve the perplexing problem which has been facing the officials and citizens of Maysville for months, there has been an agreement reached between the lawyers representing both the State Health Board and the water company for a quick admission of the case to the high court.

It is understood that this proceeding will be the filing of a suit in the Mason Circuit Court by the Water Company asking that County Judge Purnell be enjoined from trying the cases. This will throw the case into Circuit Court on injunction and it has been agreed that an appeal will then take the case direct to the Court of Appeals for an early decision.

MAYSVILLE MAY HAVE NEW MILK DEALERS.

A meeting of the dairymen of the Minerva neighborhood is being held in Minerva today to consider the organization of a co-operative company for the handling of milk. It is the purpose of the proposed new company to deliver their milk to Dover every morning to be shipped to Maysville on the 9:50 C. & O. train and then delivered to local customers. The milk will be from registered herds only every member of which will be tested for tuberculosis.

TRIAL OF DOG POSTPONED.

The trial of a valuable bird dog owned by Mr. Conway, of Dover, which was set for today in Squire Fred Bauer's court has been postponed until next Saturday. The dog is charged with sheep killing while its owner protests its innocence.

JUDGMENT FOR $10,000 AGAINST THE C. & O.

Administrator of Mrs. Smith Stone Is Awarded Ten Thousand Dollar Damages by Lewis County Jury.

One of the largest verdicts ever rendered in the Lewis Circuit Court was awarded the administrator of Mrs. Smith Stone by a jury at Vanceburg this week when they granted plaintiff judgment for ten thousand dollars against the C. & O. railroad company.

It will be remembered that several months ago Mr. and Mrs. Smith Stone, of near Trinity, were struck by a C. & O. train at the South Manchester crossing. Both were badly injured and it was thought that both would die. They were removed to a Covington hospital where Mrs. Stone died of her injuries, but Mr. Stone recovered. Shortly after Mrs. Stone's death this suit was brought by Hon. A. D. Cole, of this city.

This term has been one of the busiest the Lewis Circuit Court has known and the petit jury was only dismissed yesterday. The grand jury is still in session.

LOCAL MARKET HAS SHOWN STEADY RISE DURING PAST WEEK

Weekly Average Shows Increase of 54 Cents on the Hundred Pounds Over Last Week—Belle Iles Been Steady.

Supervisor William Mitchell this afternoon reported that during the week closed with Friday's sales, the local market sold a total of 2,947,540 pounds of tobacco at a general average of $15.44 per hundred pounds. This is an increase of over 300,000 pounds in the amount of tobacco sold and an increase of 54 cents per hundred on the price.

Supervisor Mitchell reports that the increase in price for the week has been steady and that the amount of increase represents the difference in the quality of the tobacco offered. The market has been steady all week, Mr. Mitchell says.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATIONS HOLD MEETINGS

Organizations More Closely Connecting Schools and Homes Have Delighted Evening Friday.

The Parent-Teachers' Associations of the First District and the Forest Avenue schools both held open sessions at the two school buildings Friday evening and at both places interesting programs were rendered by grown-ups instead of by the school children as has always been the case heretofore.

At the First District school Mr. C. Kirk gave a most helpful talk while at the Forest Avenue building Mr. Milton Elliott, of Franklin county was the chief speaker. Because of her inability to make train connections at Cincinnati, Mrs. George Weldon, of Louisville, who was scheduled to speak at this school, was unable to be here but Mr. Elliott's address was greatly enjoyed. Miss Eleanor Wallace, the Hilldale "live-wire," also infused much enthusiasm and Mrs. Elliott rendered a delightful piano solo.

Mrs. W. H. Tanbee, president, presided and five members of the Boys' Band, who are students at the Forest Avenue school, furnished splendid music.

A lunch was served in the cafeteria operated in the basement of the building by the janitor and his wife.

RECEIVER FOR

CARLISLE COMPANY.

Carlisle, Ky., Feb. 12. — An order was entered in circuit court by Judge L. P. Fryer appointing John Harvey receiver of the E. A. Matlasis Company of Carlisle. The petition asking that a receiver be appointed was filed by Mrs. Mary E. Matlasis, a stockholder in the corporation. The assets and liabilities of the concern were not made public. The company, aside from operating a coal yard and transfer business, has for the past three years been an extensive purchaser of tobacco, and the low price of the weed this year is given as the cause of difficulties.

MRS. LEROY BROOKS DIES.

Brooks, of this city, a sister-in-law, was at her bedside. Funeral will be held at Wyoming Monday afternoon.

TOBACCO PROBLEM SOLUTION HINGES ON ACTION OF GROWERS

Newman Says Finances Will Come To Proper Organization—World Require About Ten Million.

"I don't see much difficulty in handling the tobacco question," said J. W. Newman, president of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association Thursday, "except the matter of securing finances," when asked to express his opinion of the present situation and as to whether it could be solved satisfactorily.

Mr. Newman reiterated his statement of a few days ago that the only solution to the problem of marketing the Burley tobacco crop was "education, organization and systematization" and said that the more he talked with growers and warehousemen the more convinced he became that there was a feeling spreading throughout the section that the tobacco crop would have to be handled in a more scientific and certain manner.

"Every day," said Mr. Newman, "on the breaks, I have farmers, who know me and know what the association is trying to do, come up and talk over the problem and all seem anxious for something to be done."

Whether the Farmers will consent to organize for their mutual protection and the better handling of their tobacco crop is something that remains to be seen, he said, but he thought that the experience of 1920-21 had taught the majority of them a bitter lesson and that they would be willing to listen whenever real, clean-cut plan was put before them.

Whether Judge Robert Bingham's trip to confer with Bernard M. Baruch on the subject of handling the tobacco crop resulted in any particular plan of operation, Mr. Newman said, he did

BOURBON DEPUTY SHERIFF IS SHORT

Bourbon County Officer Is Arrested When He Is Found To Be Short on Funds.

Paris, Ky., Feb. 12.—J. O. Marshall, Deputy Sheriff for twelve years and candidate for Sheriff, has been arrested here on five warrants charging embezzlement. A shortage of $18,000 already has been found, it was announced tonight at the Sheriff's office, where the books are being audited.

A wave of astonishment swept over this city when the arrest became known. Active in the business and social life of the county, he was regarded as one of the most solid men of this section of the Bluegrass.

His long connection with the Sheriff's office had made him the logical candidate for Sheriff, and he announced his entrance into the race a few weeks ago. This morning a card was published in a local paper signed by Marshall announcing his withdrawal from the race, and thanking his friends for their past support, but giving no reasons for his withdrawal.

For the last few days the story of his troubles has been the general subject of conversation.

STEPHEN TERHUNE DIES AT HOME IN FLEMING COUNTY.

Flemingsburg, Ky., Feb. 12.—Stephen Terhune, 65 years old, died suddenly at his home in Sherburne, this county. He leaves surviving him his widow and four children.

GIVEN UNTIL NEXT GRAND JURY TO FIND SELLER OF BOOZE

Local Man Held To Grand Jury But Promised Immunity If Boot Legger Is Located and Reported.

Clark Campbell, Maysville man, was before Police Judge John L. Whitaker this afternoon on a charge of being drunk and entered a plea of guilty for which he was fined ten dollars and costs. He was asked from whom he purchased the liquor upon which he became intoxicated and he said he did not know the man's name but gave a description of him, who he said lived near Manchester.

The evidence in the case warranted Acting City Attorney Collins in asking for a warrant charging Campbell with procuring liquor for another and aiding and abetting in its sale. To this warrant the defendant, through his attorney H. C. Curran, waived an exemption and he was held to the grand jury under $100 bail.

It was understood that if Campbell finds the bootlegger between now and the meeting of the grand jury in March, he will get immunity.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

AMERICAN PRINCIPLES.

The principle upon which the American government is founded is co-operative—co-operation of individuals of the government with its citizens as a whole. Our policy should be to conserve that principle.

One of the fundamental rules of economic law is to give to labor its due reward in wages. To accomplish this, the industries employing labor must be kept in a wholesome and prosperous state. This latter condition can only be brought about by the government giving to its industries the protection and encouragement that they deserve.
This can only be realized through a consistent and all-American system of Tariff Protection whereby America will preserve to its bulwarks of industry and labor the fruits of their endeavors.

Our country prospers or suffers depression according to the state of its industries. Farming and agriculture play a very important part in the prosperity of the nation. In fact to a great extent the buying power of the nation is dependent upon the prosperity of the farmer. In order to derive from the soil the maximum amount of produce, our citizens must be encouraged to enter into farming as an industry. Before this can be brought about, the government must guarantee to the farmer a ready market for his products. No self-respecting American farmer can be expected to put his untiring efforts into agricultural pursuits, and pay to his farm labor a decent American wage, if he knows that when he sends his produce to market, it is to be sold in competition with cheap products imported from Oriental and other foreign countries where underpaid and underfed labor is employed, and where living conditions are abominable compared to those in America.

This same condition applies to the American manufacturer, who employs American labor at a wage which insures to the worker a decent living. He cannot continue this if forced to sell his output at a price regulated by the cheap products of foreign labor and industry.

If the foreigner is to derive profits from the markets of America, he should be made to pay for that privilege. American farmers and manufacturers are subject to taxes an other revenues here for the support of the government. The only way in which foreigners can be made to participate in this contribution to the support of the government of the country in which they seek to derive profits through the sale of their merchandise, is to levy a duty on those products on their entry into the country. In order that the foreigner may not have an advantage over the domestic producer and manufacturer in our home markets, the duty should be high enough to make up for the difference in the cost of labor and production here and that in foreign countries.

The American markets should be insured to the American producer, and guaranteed against competition from the underpaid, underfed and oppressed inhabitants of Oriental and other foreign countries.

FEDERAL DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION.

It is not pleasing to realize that the United States stands ninth among the nations of the world in the general educational level of its people. But, if the report of the House Committee on Education is to be credited, that is the unenviable position occupied by the alleged greatest and most progressive among civilized countries.

The report of the committee recommends the passage of the Smith-Towner bill to establish a Federal Department of Education with Federal aid in increasing educational facilities.

According to the report illiteracy is national and not a sectional problem. The statistics cited show illiteracy almost equally prevalent in every section of the country. This surprising information should prove a shock to the national complacency. It also should serve to expedite the creation of every possible remedial agency necessary to correct this ominous situation.

The Smith-Towner bill offers, according to the report, "the only means of correcting the present inequality of educational opportunities among the various communities and preventing waste of public funds and inefficiency due to lack of co-ordination among Federal agencies dealing with education."

That is as may be. But common sense informs that this regrettable situation tremendously can be improved through individual and community action. Federal aid would be welcome, a Federal Department of Education would be eminently desirable, but the mass of people generally must be led to understand and appreciate the value of education. There is nothing more important in our scheme of Government. No tax levied for educational purposes ever should be regarded as too onerous to be borne. The public schools must be strengthened, supported, developed and encouraged until we as a nation stand on the educational level not ninth, but first.

J. B. KEEPS NAGGING.

John Bull keeps up his discrimination against American trade.
Freight rates from New York to the United Kingdom are fixed by the Eastern Freight Conference at $1.00 per 100 pounds on many commodities, which from New York to French and Channel ports rates for the same commodities vary from 20 to 50 cents per 100 pounds.
From New York to Dutch ports the rate is 30 cents. The American exporters are getting around this by routing shipments of goods to United Kingdom via the Continent. Possibly a little taste of maximum and minimum tariff might bring John Bull to his senses. As soon as that is proposed some of our weak sisters will accuse us of holding a club over European competitors, ignoring the fact that England is belaboring us with her big stick.

TOOT SWEET.

France has decreased her unfavorable trade balance by eleven billion francs in 1920, compared with 1919. That means that the value of the franc will soon begin to climb. Clemenceau told Europe to go to work, and France took him at his word.

1809-1865

ABRAHAM LINCOLN, 16th President of the United States; born, February 12, 1809, in Hardin county, Kentucky; Assassinated at Ford's Theater, Washington, D. C., Friday night, April 14, 1865, dying Saturday morning at 7:22 o'clock. Lincoln was a man, tall, lean and lanky, standing 6 feet 4 inches in height and weighing about 180 pounds. Reared as a farmer until 21 years of age, when he went to Illinois and became clerk in a store. Later elected to the Illinois Legislature three times, afterward elected as Congressman, and in 1860 was elected President of the United States. "Love of justice and fair play was his predominating trait," says a noted writer. No man will ever live in the hearts of his countrymen as did Lincoln. He was great, good, just and merciful to rich and poor alike. As the years pass into history his name and fame stands out as a "beacon light" to all civilization.

My back hurt nearly all the time and I couldn't do my washing on account of the misery in my back. I couldn't sleep at night and mornings I could get up feeling all right. I would be dizzy and could see black specks before my eyes. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. My hands and arms would get numb and cold. Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 10. — Uncle Newt Loring, colored, aged 80, told Judge Hullock that with all his seven marriages, he had never intentionally had more than one wife at any time. An erroneous report that number six was dead, caused him to marry number seven, the aged negro said, and the court was impressed to the extent of reducing bail from $300 to $200 and "Uncle" Newt got back to his peddling business, his seventeen children and his record as veteran fighter of the Confederate army.

NERVOUS FAINTING SPELLS

Mrs. Werner Tells How They Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Camden, N. J.—"Before my baby was born I was run down and weak, had pains in my back and stomach, was very nervous and would have fainting spells. I certainly suffered awfully with those nervous fainting spells. I did not know anyone at times and used to scream. A doctor treated me for the spells but did not seem to do much good. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills before so I began taking them again. I soon felt a change and could do my work without pain and was cured of those nervous spells. Now I have a nice fat baby girl and had a very nice time at birth, thanks to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." Mrs. WILLIAM C. WERNER, 1216 Van Hook St., Camden, N. J.

When a wife finds her energies are flagging, she is weak, nervous, suffers from backache, the "blues," she should build her system up at once by taking that standard woman's medicine, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as did Mrs. Werner.

If there is anything about your condition you do not understand write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., in regard to your health.

New York Letter
by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York.—New York City has done her bit toward assuring friendly relations between this country and Japan, even though the doing was unintentional. Whenever the ice in the park ponds is strong enough for skaters, a red ball is shown atop their poles, and then, because such a small fraction of the population lives near enough to any park to see the ball, it is reproduced on street car flags, a red circle on white. One of the few skating days of the winter fell on a Japanese holiday and a bevy of Japanese students from Columbia were tremendously impressed by the politeness of America in honoring Japan by flying her flag all day.

The traffic cop at Lafayette and Chambers street says that $10,000,000 passes him twice a day—that is men owning these billions. Lafayette street is a part of the motor route from uptown to Wall street and the Wall street district. Fifth Avenue is too jammed by day and night for those multi-millionaires and their cars are whisked into the side streets upon which they can gather speed, but they all head into Lafayette street to get to and from their offices.

John Wisniewski, thirteen years old, is back in school, after four years of truancy. In spite of the fact that he has to go back into the second grade from which he ran away at the age of nine, the four years have been busy ones. He is bringing back the gold-starred medal of bravery conferred upon him by the Polish government and three wound stars, won in the two wars he has fought since he left, the World War and the Polish-Bolshevik campaigns. John ran away and shipped to France in 1917 on a transport taking the Polish-American troops across. Two companions were with him; they were eight and eleven years old. John is the only one of them to come through alive. The soldiers made them moccots at first, but when they got to France they became real fighters. The only thing that worries him now is what they are going to do to him for having played hookey for so long.

The Woman Pays Club, reinforced by Margaret Wilson, passed a resolution the other day advocating that all married women retain the use of their maiden names and pledging all members of the club to live up to that advocacy. The resolution sets forth the fact that there is no legal bar to the step they urge. But they did not explain whether their club name indicates a sort of "Dutch Treat" principle on the part of its members in the matter of luncheons, etc., or whether it is a reminder of the world of the universal line of melodrama—“Oh, yes, it's always the woman, who pays and pays and PAYS!”

Here is a boy who is willing to live in half a room, cook breakfast and run errands in return for a father—and a chance to live in America. Alexander Kwator, 14, had upset the strict legal attitude of Ellis Island, and the whole immigration department are hoping he will find the father and the chance. He came in as a stowaway and must be deported unless some one comes forward and agrees to look after him. Both parents were killed by the Bolsheviks, French aviators adopted him temporarily and took him with them to Constantinople. Then they turned him over to the American authorities, and from the boy learned to love this country. So he came here. "There must be some one in America who is willing to take a chance on me," he pleads. "If some man would take me and hire a room just big enough for us two, I'd take care of it and cook breakfast and run errands and do everything. I could do to help him."

He was a very small Pomeranian and he was walking down Fifth Avenue all by himself, picking his way along to keep out of snowy spots on the walk. The watchman of a bank plucked him up and looked at him carefully. "Say you ain't allowed out alone, surely, are you?" he asked. "Where's your nurse?" Then along hurried a woman in a wrappy fur coat and slippers never meant for walking. "Oh, thanks for saying him," she explained. "He never got out of the motor before." She reported to be stow a coin. The watchman spoke firmly and from the heart, "No, ma'am," he said. "It's enough for me to see one of them toy dogs show some spirit."

New York—New York City has done her bit toward assuring friendly relations between this country and Japan, even though the doing was unintentional. Whenever the ice in the park ponds is strong enough for skaters, a red ball is shown atop their poles, and then, because such a small fraction of the population lives near enough to any park to see the ball, it is reproduced on street car flags, a red circle on white. One of the few skating days of the winter fell on a Japanese holiday and a bevy of Japanese students from Columbia were tremendously impressed by the politeness of America in honoring Japan by flying her flag all day.

The traffic cop at Lafayette and Chambers street says that $10,000,000 passes him twice a day—that is men owning these billions. Lafayette street is a part of the motor route from uptown to Wall street and the Wall street district. Fifth Avenue is too jammed by day and night for those multi-millionaires and their cars are whisked into the side streets upon which they can gather speed, but they all head into Lafayette street to get to and from their offices.

John Wisniewski, thirteen years old, is back in school, after four years of truancy. In spite of the fact that he has to go back into the second grade from which he ran away at the age of nine, the four years have been busy ones. He is bringing back the gold-starred medal of bravery conferred upon him by the Polish government and three wound stars, won in the two wars he has fought since he left, the World War and the Polish-Bolshevik campaigns. John ran away and shipped to France in 1917 on a transport taking the Polish-American troops across. Two companions were with him; they were eight and eleven years old. John is the only one of them to come through alive. The soldiers made them moccots at first, but when they got to France they became real fighters. The only thing that worries him now is what they are going to do to him for having played hookey for so long.

WHAT IS IT WORTH TO YOU?

The greatest investment that can be made is in boys and girls. You not only help the child, but the man or woman; the community; the whole world; and yourself. How much are you willing to invest in the homeless or orphaned children of our state who are seeking aid from the Kentucky Children's Home Society? A liberal gift will go on blessing childhood long after you have been forgotten, even to the end of time. February 15th and 16th are the days set apart for you to make this kind of an investment. What is it worth to you?

The school children of Maysville are asked to have a part in building a home for less fortunate children who are cared for through the Kentucky Children's Home Society. Encourage your children in their noble efforts to help through the schools by giving a substantial amount, on Tuesday, February 15th, when the children all over Maysville are asked to have a part in this great work. You are helping your child as much as you are helping the society.

Every father and mother in the state should help the society in its work for the orphan and homeless child—Kentucky's and Mason county's own children! The society has a splendid organization to handle these dependent children; men and women who do it because they love children. The institution knows people who want them in their homes and how to secure other applications; but it cannot meet the demand with its present equipment. The Kentucky Children's Home Society is profoundly grateful to the friends who have loyally supported it

FOR TORPID LIVER

Tennessee Lumberman Talks of His Successful Use of Black-Draught for Colds and Headaches.

Jamestown, Tenn.—"I have used Thedford's Black-Draught for years, in fact it is the only liver medicine that does me any good," says Mr. L. A. Raxan, a well-known lumberman of this place. "When I was single, I used it for headaches, and especially if I get a cold and feel feverish, I take a good dose of Black-Draught, and it sets me right.

"Since I have been married, I have used it in my family, and no one has found it equal for torpid liver or disarranged stomach, especially with children. I can recommend Black-Draught, and gladly do so."

Every member of the family occasionally needs the assistance that Black-Draught can give, in helping to cleanse the system and relieve or prevent the troubles that come from a bad, torpid liver.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you may suffer with headache, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, etc. Unless relief is obtained, serious sickness may result. In its long and successful use, Thedford's Black-Draught has been found in thousands of cases to relieve such disorders, by stimulating the liver to do its important work. Ask for Thedford's Black-Draught, and insist on the genuine. NC-137
